

DRIFTWOOD PIANO

An ivory coloured piano for an exceptional yacht...what could be more luxurious?

The architect's office we collaborated with on this project came up with the question and it was down to us to find the answer. This piano wouldn't just be an « ivory » piano; we set off on a research quest to find just the right shade of pale to blend in perfectly with the rest of the decoration at the piano's final destination.

After some experimentation the decision was made: the piano was entirely varnished in « soft ivory », with a tailormade stool to match.

One thing for sure: the happy owner of this piano now has a musical instrument that features unique finishing detail.
